

Homework Grid

Be sure to take your time and not rush the process. Spreading the work out over the course of mentorship and practicum not only makes the homework requirements more manageable, but also deepens the work by allowing for reflection. This process is personal; your speed does not matter so much as your forward momentum. For more specific information, see the certification application on the Healing Beyond Borders website.

7: Documentation of 100 Sessions					The purpose of the 100 documented sessions is to present the breadth and depth of your HT practice. Focus your sessions on the human population; you may include a few healing sessions on animals or plants (no more than 5 total). Be certain to document the rationale for all interventions based upon your subjective, objective, and energetic findings. At least 10-15 of your 100 sessions need to include the initial intake assessment. Bring the documentation for all 100 sessions to your Course 5. These will be returned to you. A goal of 2 sessions per week is reasonable. Track your progress below. Sample intake assessment and follow-up session documentation forms are available in the Student Resource section of the Healing Beyond Borders website (www.healingbeyondborders.org) or you may create your own.

8: Community Project					The community project is your service project and gift to the community. It is also an opportunity to introduce Healing Touch to a new population or venue. Write a reflective statement of about one page.
9: Networking and Support Group					Networking and support group activities help to cultivate support and create a network within your community. Report your involvement with study and practice groups related to Healing Touch, Healing Beyond Borders, or the American Holistic Nurses Association. Networking can occur through face to face meetings, emails, phone conferences, or practice groups, for example.
