

Web-Sites to Help Understand and Use Research:

Berkley University Library

<https://guides.lib.berkeley.edu/evaluating-resources>

Coursera has free online Introduction to Research course

<https://www.coursera.org/learn/research-methods>

Open and free short Research course at Atlantic International University

<https://courses.aiu.edu/RESEARCH%20METHODOLOGY.html>

The Open University has many short free courses available

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/free-courses>

Google Scholar is a free search engine for many open access academic articles

<https://scholar.google.com/>

PsychCentral has a really brief webpage called Research 101: Understanding Research Studies

<https://psychcentral.com/lib/research-101-understanding-research-studies#1>

The National Institute of Health has nice overview “Explaining How Research Works”

<https://www.nih.gov/about-nih/what-we-do/science-health-public-trust/perspectives/explaining-how-research-works>

University of Minnesota Libraries has a brief explanation about the types and levels of research

<https://libguides.umn.edu/c.php?g=999283>

In addition to having wonderful writing and citation help, Purdue OWL information on conducting primary research

https://owl.purdue.edu/owl/research\_and\_citation/conducting\_research/conducting\_primary\_research/index.html